Clamor Against Japanese Trial For GI Mounts

CAMP WHITTINGTON, Japan, June 8 (Saturday) — (INS) — GI William S. Girard, facing trial in a Japanese court on a manslaughter charge, fired his Japanese attorney today on telephoned instructions from his older brother in the United States.

WASHINGTON, June 7 (P)—New moves aimed at saving GI William S. Girard from trial by a Japanese court developed today in Congress and in the accused soldier's home town.

Rep. Haley (D-Fla.) introduced a resolution asking the United States to reconsider its highly controversial agreement to let Japan try the Ottawa, Ill., soldier on a charge of fatally shooting a Japanese woman.

Resolution Not Binding
The resolution wouldn't be binding on the government but would express the sentiment of the House.

Girard, 21, a specialist 3.C. is accused of causing the death of the Japanese woman on an Army firing range last Jan. 30. The issue is whether he should be tried by U.S. Army court-martial or, as the government agreed earlier this week, by a Japanese court.

In Ottawa, a fund in Girard's behalf was started as a citizen committee planned to fly to Washington Monday with a protest to the White House against the government's decision.

Girard Denies Charges
President Eisenhower told a news conference last Wednesday this country would see that justice was done in Girard's case.

At Camp Whittington, Japan, Girard today denied Japanese charges that he enticed the woman scrap collector, Mrs. Naka Sakai, 46, onto the firing range before firing a blank rifle cartridge from a grenade launcher. Girard said the shooting was accidental.

Pilot Rescued After Seaplane Crashes In River

ANNAPOLIS, June 7 (P)—A civilian seaplane crashed into the Severn River near here late today. The Naval Air Facility at the Naval Academy said the pilot was unhurt and was rescued.

The duty officer at the Air Facility said the plane turned over while trying to make a landing near the mouth of the river. The accident happened off Horn Point near the Annapolis Yacht Club.

A crash boat from the Air Facility dashed out to rescue the pilot. The plane was described at the scene as a very small "float plane." It flipped over between Horn Point and the Academy on the Severn.

The pilot of the plane, a Piper Cub with floats, mysteriously disappeared after the crash. State Trooper C. C. Senseney was told that an outboard motorboat from Horn Point, in Eastport, came out to the plane, picked up the pilot and took him ashore.

Senators Shelve Plan To Question Scientist

WASHINGTON, June 7 (P)—The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee today announced it is dropping temporarily its plan to question Dr. Linus Pauling, Nobel Prize scientist, about a campaign to halt H-bomb tests.

Dr. Pauling, faculty member at the California Institute of Technology, had been subpoenaed to appear June 18 but advised the subcommittee he could not come here then, the announcement said.

Dr. Pauling circulated a petition signed by 2,000 scientists urging an end to atomic weapons tests because of the fallout hazard.

American Duo Treated Well

NICKELSDORF, Austria, June 7 (P)—Two South Carolina students held in Communist Hungary since May 26 were released today and arrived here shortly before midnight.

They are Mike A. Gilbert of Walterboro and Warren Hair of North Augusta, S.C.

They told newsmen here that they had been freed from a Budapest prison at 6:30 p.m.

Escorted by Hungarian police, they were brought to this border check point and turned over to Austrian authorities.

The two appeared to be in fine shape and bright spirits. They carried their belongings in paper parcels.

Both Treated Well

Both said they had been treated well following their arrest on May 26 about two miles inside Hungarian territory in the neighborhood of Lake Neusiedel.

They said they had first been brought to police headquarters at the northwest Hungarian border town of Sopron.

From there they were transferred to a prison in Budapest, where they were held separately for 12 days.

Gilbert, who is cultivating a beard, said that they had been questioned by Hungarian police on several occasions during their confinement.

Crossed Border To Observe

Asked by newsmen whether they would like to repeat their adventure, one replied: "Possibly yes, but for the time we are glad to be here."

They were asked whether they had been able to observe conditions in Hungary—the stated reason for the illegal border crossing. "Yes, to some extent," was the reply.

Gilbert and Hair were taken from here to a Vienna police station accompanied by Austrian security officials.

Their release will depend upon what action Austrian authorities may take.

$3.6 Billion Aid Program Voted By Senate Unit

WASHINGTON, June 7 (P)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee approved tonight a $3,637,110,000 foreign aid program, cut only $227,300,000 below President Eisenhower's request.

In addition, the committee approved the President's request for authority to reappropriate 500 million dollars in military assistance funds left over from the fiscal year ending next June 30.

It was written in language drafted by Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican Senate leader, under which this country can continue to furnish assistance to Yugoslavia.

This aid would require assurance by the President that it was in the interest of U.S. security, and congressional committees would have to be continuously informed of programs for that country.

Stassen Delays Return

LONDON, June 7 (P)—Harold E. Stassen, U.S. representative at the London disarmament talks, tonight postponed his scheduled departure for Washington for 12 hours.

A U.S. Embassy source said Stassen had found he had an extra day's work to clear up before he left.

U.S. Airman Weds Beauty Once Barred From Italy

ROME, June 7 (P)—Blonde Mirva Arvonen, former Finnish beauty queen once banned from Italy at the request of the wife of ex-King Farouk's secretary, has been married to a U.S. Navy jet fighter pilot.

He is Henry Grady Harrison, 26, presently attached to the U.S. 6th Fleet carrier Randolph.

Friends in Naples said Harrison lives in Houston, Tex., and that he is a native Texan.

A civil ceremony was performed two days ago at Rome's ancient City Hall. The couple made arrangements for a religious marriage tomorrow at the Swiss chapel in Naples, where the 22-year-old Miss Arvonen has been staying.

Her romance with an American came as a surprise here. She had

RESEARCHER — Miss Rose R. Ichelson, Russian-born medical researcher at St. Luke's and Children's Medical Center, Philadelphia, announced yesterday that she had isolated a micro-organism she has "100 per cent reason to believe is the cause of multiple sclerosis." Miss Ichelson said the discovery will permit researchers throughout the world to concentrate on immunization and cure of the disease. (AP Photofax)

Woman Finds Possible Cause Of Sclerosis

PHILADELPHIA, June 7 (P)—A major breakthrough in the fight against the crippling disease multiple sclerosis was reported today by a woman scientist who said her isolation of a micro-organism showed it to be the probable cause.

Miss Rose Ichelson said she also had developed a skin test, similar to that used for tuberculosis, to determine whether a patient is afflicted with MS.

The next step, she told a news conference is for other researchers to check her findings. If they substantiate them, and Miss Ichelson said, "I think they will," scientists can begin to seek a way to immunizing against the disease and curing it.

Isolated Organism In 1951

She previously had isolated the organism alive, as far back as 1951 when she said she thought it was the cause of MS. By 1955 she was regularly producing the organism in cultures permitting work that she said today gives her "100 per cent reason to believe" that the organism, spirochaeta myelophthora, is the cause of the disease.

Other scientists previously had seen spirochaeta myelophthora but none had been able to keep it alive or preserve it in a culture. That was Miss Ichelson's first step.

No Known Cure

At present there is no known cure—only some relief from certain less serious forms of the disease. The number in America afflicted reportedly total about 300,000. Most are in the 30-45 age bracket. Some children also are stricken.

Miss Ichelson reported previously in a scientific journal that tests of spinal fluid from MS victims showed the organism in 59 of 76 cases. In 28 tests of spinal fluid from non-multiple sclerosis cases the organism could not be found.

She did not amplify her reasons for being so sure of the cause—asking instead that other scientists across the nation pass on her findings. Her work was done in St. Luke's and Children's Medical Center where she is chief researcher.

Eisenhower Salutes Navy Rescue Try

One Of Two Pilots Saved In Dramatic Air-Sea Operation

WASHINGTON, June 7 (P)—President Eisenhower returned today from an overnight seagoing inspection of U.S. atomic-age naval power off Florida's East Coast.

The President was on hand for a dramatic air-sea rescue operation that interrupted maneuvers of a task force built around the 60,000-ton supercarrier Saratoga. He flew back to Washington from Mayport Naval Base, Fla. in the presidential plane Columbine III.

Shortly before he left it was announced that one of two Navy jet pilots downed at sea during the night had been found dead. The other was rescued alive and in "very good" condition.

Ike Distressed

The President was on the Saratoga's flag bridge shortly after 8:30 a.m. when word came that the first of the missing pilots had been saved.

As the search for the second man went forward, Eisenhower congratulated the task force and expressed a "prayerful hope" that the second pilot would be found alive and well.

Press secretary James Hagerty said Eisenhower was deeply distressed to hear the news and was sending a personal message of sympathy to the dead pilot's next of kin. The victim's name was withheld pending notification to relatives.

15 Ships Join Search

The rescue operation diverted 16 of the "Big Sara's" 18 escorting warships and some of its planes, washing out a big part of the second day's training demonstration. The word from presidential aides was that Eisenhower wanted nothing to stand in the way of an all-out rescue effort.

"My congratulations to those who found and rescued one of the downed pilots and for doing it so expeditiously," Eisenhower said over the Saratoga's public address system, "and my prayerful hopes—my sincere prayers—that they will find the second pilot very soon, alive and well."

The President expressed his personal and official thanks to the officers and crews of all the ships taking part in the search.

Poland To Get American Aid

WASHINGTON, June 7 (P)—The United States today pledged Communist Poland 95 million dollars in aid to help it resist Moscow domination and improve its trade with the free world.

Of the total $48,900,000 was provided in a signed agreement; the balance of $46,100,000 was promised for later.

The agreement, signed at the State Department at noon, climaxed nearly four months of negotiations.

First deliveries of cotton, the commodity most coveted by the Poles under the agreement, are expected to arrive in about three weeks. That event would coincide with the first anniversary of the bread-and-freedom riots at Poznan, Poland, last June 28 heralding a relaxation of the Soviet Union's tight control over some of its European satellites.

Both sides at the signing ceremonies today greeted the U.S.-Polish accord as the beginning of a new era in trade and relations in general between the two countries. They made plain that the agreement could pave the way to a friendly future.

Russians Will Hear Knowland Via Radio

NEW YORK, June 7 (P)—A follow-up program for last Sunday's television interview with Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev will be broadcast simultaneously this Sunday to Russia by radio transmitters in Germany. The program will feature Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.).

Knowland, Senate minority leader, will be interviewed by a panel of newsmen on the program, CBS-TV's "Face the Nation."

The sound portion of the follow-up program will be transmitted to Munich studios of Radio Liberation, which features round-the-clock broadcasts by Russian exiles. Powerful transmitters in West Germany will rebroadcast it in 17 Soviet Union languages.

Spelling Bee Ends In Tie

Sandra Owen (10), of Navarre, Ohio, and Dana Bennett (51), of Denver, Colo., hold aloft the victor's trophy after being declared joint winners last night of the 30th annual National Spelling Bee. Each was awarded a $1,000 prize and a trip to New York City. The tie was declared after the contest, held at Washington, ran through the initial list of selected words and 38 rounds of a supplemental list. (Story at bottom of page) (AP Photofax)

Alleged Girl Friend Of Bakers' President Quizzed By Probers

Refuses To Say Whether Cross Beat Her

WASHINGTON, June 7 (P)—A convicted prostitute described as the "girl friend" of James G. Cross, international president of the Bakers Union, refused to say today whether Cross beat her up in a row over a diamond ring.

Testimony at a Senate investigation of the union jumped to Los Angeles with statements by and about the "girl friend"—and that union "goons" there beat up a 14-year-old boy.

Mrs. Kay Lower, a comely but nervous 26-year-old brunette with a bloodshot left eye, took the Fifth Amendment on whether she knows Cross and whether he beat her up.

But she said "I imagine so" when asked if she had received money from Cross. Later she became more positive, saying she had received money from him. She invoked the Fifth Amendment when asked what the payments were for.

Albert Barclay testified that before he was fired as office manager of Bakers Union Local 37 in Los Angeles, $35 a week went into a fund to pay thugs. He said the thugs beat up a boy named Newsum and a "colored gentleman," and burned up a car.

And, Barclay said, $75 a week sent to the local by the international union was for "Mrs. Cross's girl friend, so to speak—Mrs. Elsie Kay Lower."

John D. Nelson, who runs the local, was named by Barclay as having used a blackjack on the boy. Nelson denied he was in on any such beating. And Nelson said Mrs. Lower got only part of the $75 weekly.

Before switching to Los Angeles, the Senate probers turned up testimony that bakery owners were pressured into contributing to a testimonial dinner which amassed some $60,000 for the kingpin of the Bakers Union in New York City.

Union leader Frank Dutto, chairman of the committee which sponsored the dinner for Max Kralstein, international vice president, last June, invoked the Fifth Amendment on whether he was a Communist before 1950. Dutto said he hasn't been since then.

One baker in person, and others in affidavits, said they chipped in $50 to $200 for dinner tickets or ads in a souvenir journal out of fear that something might happen if they balked.

Italian Premier Wins Vote Of Confidence

ROME, Italy, Saturday, June 8 (P)—Premier Adone Zoli won a vote of confidence for his new minority government in the Chamber of Deputies early today.

The vote, 305-255 permits the one-party Christian Democrat Cabinet to take office. There were 11 abstentions. Zoli required 281 votes.

Syrian Leader Visits Nasser

CAIRO, June 7 (P)—President Shukry Kuwalty of Syria paid a surprise call today on Egypt's President Nasser. The meeting of the two came on the eve of an important conference in Amman of Jordan's King Hussein and King Saud of Saudi Arabia.

Kuwalty stepped off a plane in Cairo into an embrace with President Nasser. It was Kuwalty's second surprise visit in six weeks.

Officials in Damascus said the Syrian President made the trip to get a medical checkup in Alexandria, but some saw political reasons for the visit. Kuwalty's presence in Egypt will enable Nasser to remain in close touch with his closest ally during the period of the Amman conference.

Dispatches described Jordan's capital as bustling with preparations for the arrival tomorrow of King Saud. It was Saud who offered the greatest help during Hussein's recent political crisis.

Jordan's official program for Saud's visit lists various receptions and activities for the three days and special activities for the remaining three days. Saud is scheduled to return to Riyadh next Friday.

Ohio And Colorado Girls Share U.S. Spelling Title

WASHINGTON, June 7 (P)—Sandra Owen, 14-year-old Ohioan, finally achieved her youthful ambition today — the national spelling championship. But she had to share the honor with vivacious Dana Bennett, a 13-year-old lass from the Rockies with an equally amazing mastery of words.

Sandra, of Navarre, Ohio, and Dana, of Denver, were declared coveinners of the National Spelling Bee after spelling each other to a stalemate.

They lasted through 37 rounds of grappling with tongue-tying words — the last 14 pitted only against each other.

Then, 9½ hours after the 30th national bee had opened, director Richard D. Peters called it a draw and awarded both the first prize. That means Sandra and Dana each will get $1,000, a sightseeing

Powell Letter Adds To House Rights Furore

WASHINGTON, June 7 (P)—One Northern Democrat, Rep. Wayne Hays of Ohio, denounced another, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell of New York, today in a bitter row over tactics in support of the civil rights bill.

Managers of the bill, striving to hold Republicans and Northern Democrats firm in the House against a Southern-sponsored jury trial amendment, were obviously disturbed by the eruption.

Hays accused Powell of sending a "scurrilous" letter to other members, intended to "persuade or threaten" them to vote against the amendment. The Ohioan said the letter had backfired so far as he was concerned.

Hays said he is for the bill but Powell's letter has "almost persuaded" him to vote for the amendment.

Applause Breaks Out

As applause broke out on both sides of the House, Hays said, "There is no person in the United States in my opinion who is doing more to divide Negro citizens from other citizens than the gentleman from New York—Powell."

Powell, one of the three Negro members of Congress, is in Bethesda, Md., Naval Hospital recuperating from a heart attack.

Hays told Rep. Celler (D-N.Y.), the principal Democratic handler of the bill, that he regretted not being able to speak in Powell's presence, but that an answer to the letter could not wait.

Statement Denounced

Waving before his colleagues what he called the "scurrilous" letter, Hays objected especially to Powell's statement that Negro voters are asking, "Why send Pennsylvania and Ohio Democrats to Congress if they must take their orders from middle men who serve the White Citizens' Councils in Mississippi and Alabama?"

Hays said Democratic representatives from Pennsylvania and Ohio were voting for civil rights legislation last year while Powell was "leaving on a sea voyage for a vacation."

and personal appearance visit to New York this weekend, a trophy cup, a gold medal and plaque for her school.

Sandra was runnerup last year, and she said she'd studied every spare moment since then to extend her acquaintance with thousands of words.

This was a burn-haired Dana's first national bee.

They embraced each other gaily after the final spelloff, but their battle to the finish was loaded with tension. At one point the two-way bout had to be suspended while Sandra recovered from a sobbing spell and Dana shook off a siege of nausea.

The duel broke up after both flunked "schappe," a fabric Dana had first crack and tried "schapp." Sandra missed with "schaup."

Party Pledges Are Recalled By President

Critics Reminded Of Responsibility To Back Program

WASHINGTON, June 7 (P)—President Eisenhower called on GOP congressional leaders today to cast aside "personal preference" and shoulder their "special responsibility" to fight for his legislative program.

In a crackdown on critics of his spending budget Eisenhower told delegates to the Republican national conference that GOP leaders in and out of Congress must support the 1956 platform pledges or "the entire concept of party responsibility . . . collapses."

Then he said in measured tones, as the 1,600 delegates, members of Congress and visitors sat silent: "Republican leaders, whether in Congress, in the executive branch, in the party organization, have a special responsibility for carrying out these pledges. None of us can afford to allow his personal preference as to detail to blind him to the need of loyally supporting our party's platform."

Speech Is Praised

Many of the delegates and some Congress members praised the President's speech as they left the hall. Sen. Schoepel of Kansas, chairman of the Senate Campaign Committee, said, "It was a great speech and was received splendidly."

State Chairman Clarence F. Baldwin of Connecticut called it one of the best speeches he ever heard Eisenhower make, adding: "One point he made that every Republican in Congress should remember — he reminded them that millions of independents and Democrats voted for the Republican platform."

In his most vigorous defense of his "Modern Republicanism" concept, the President told the wind-up session of a national Republican rally that he will "use every power at my disposal" to see that the platform pledges are carried out.

Eisenhower thus served notice on GOP members of the Senate and House that he intends to fight for the legislative program many of them have criticized.

"We've got a good team," he declared. "Let's look like one."

Ike Uses Sports Parlay

Eisenhower turned to sports parlay to point up his plea.

"Suppose, during the huddle of the team in a football game, an argument develops on what the next play should be.

"The halfback wants an end run. However, the play finally called is a plunge through the line by the fullback. He gets through and has only one tackler between him and the goal."

"The dissenting halfback is in a position to block out the tackler. Does he say, 'I disagree with this play; therefore I won't throw this block? Of course not. He does his part, and the team goes on to score.'"

Eisenhower said if the Republicans "look like" a good team there is "every reason for the most buoyant and enthusiastic confidence" in GOP success in 1958, in 1960 and in years beyond.

Eisenhower said he does not believe party disagreements over his $71,900,000,000 spending budget and other proposals represent a split in the GOP on "basic principles."

As contrasted with what he said is a basic division on philosophy and principle among the Democrats, Eisenhower said the Republicans have got a good team.

"And so," he said, "if our opponents say we suffer from splinters, let us remind them that a splinter in a party's political structure is one thing; but a political house divided against itself is quite another."

Before the President's speech the GOP conference delegates unanimously endorsed Eisenhower's administration and program.

End To French Crisis Virtually Assured

PARIS, June 7 (P)—The Socialist party today virtually assured the election of Maurice Bourges-Maunoury, youthful defense minister, as premier.

The Socialist National Committee voted, 51-33, to share governmental responsibility under the 42-year-old member of the Radical Socialist party.

Earlier Bourges-Maunoury had asked and obtained pledges of cooperation from several other parties, including the Popular Republican Movement.

The decision of the Socialists, taken in a 2½ hour meeting, was a long stride toward solution of the political crisis that has handicapped French administration for more than two weeks.

Teamsters Should Oust Beck Now, Meany Says

AFL-CIO Leader Says Probe Will Bolster Unions

WASHINGTON, June 7 (AP)—George Meany, AFL-CIO president, said today Dave Beck should get out of the Teamsters Union presidency, or be kicked out forthwith—without letting Beck finish the remaining months of his term.

"Beck should get out tomorrow," Meany told an applauding luncheon audience of the AFL-CIO Industrial Union Department.

The AFL-CIO chief said there was no doubt the Senate rackets committee's disclosures were placing "a stigma" on organized labor. But he said it was a good thing to rid unions of corruption and they would be stronger in the long run.

Beck has been accused before the committee of misusing some $370,000 of his union's funds. He took the Fifth Amendment when questioned.

Beck is under indictment in Tacoma, Wash., on a charge of evading $56,000 in 1950 income taxes. Beck has said he will not seek re-election at the union's September convention, but has indicated every intention of serving out his present term.

Meany said Beck doesn't "deserve" to stay in the labor movement any longer. He said Beck should quit right away, but if he does not the Teamsters Union Executive Board should force him out.

Nor, said Meany, should the Teamsters let Beck bow out with the title of president emeritus, as has been reported a possibility, or give him "other high honors."

"If the members of his Executive Board have any concept of their responsibility to the trade union movement," Meany said, "they'll kick him out right away and not wait until September."

"I don't like to strike a personal note, but this man doesn't belong in the trade union movement."

Beck has been ousted as an AFL-CIO vice president and member of the AFL-CIO Executive Council.

John F. English, 68-year-old Teamsters secretary-treasurer, has succeeded Beck in both AFL-CIO positions. Meany said English has promised a Teamsters clean-up, and added the AFL-CIO is giving the Teamsters time to "wash their dirty linen."

But, Meany said, the AFL-CIO is watching the situation closely. "Our eyes are open and we're not easily fooled."

He made it clear that if the Teamsters don't take prompt clean-up steps, the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee will pursue charges looking toward ouster of the Teamsters from the AFL-CIO.

Army To Honor Surgeon Who Operated On Ike

WASHINGTON, June 7 (AP)—The Army will give a Distinguished Service Medal to Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, the surgeon who operated on President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles last year.

Secretary of the Army Brucker will present the award to the commander of the Walter Reed Medical Center at a Pentagon ceremony Monday.

The citation accompanying the award said that Heaton distinguished himself by "exceptionally meritorious service" during the period from June 9 to Nov. 15, 1956, in a number of "important surgical operations."

The citation did not identify the operations involved, but the President underwent surgery for ileitis on June 9 last year. Dulles had an operation Nov. 3 for removal of abdominal cancer.

Wright, 86, Receives 'Nice Birthday Gift'

SPRING GREEN, Wis., June 7 (AP)—Architect Frank Lloyd Wright, who will be 86 years old tomorrow, says he has received "a nice birthday gift" from King Feisal of Iraq—a donation to build a $4-million-dollar cultural center. "It's quite a birthday present, just about as nice a one as you could ask for," he said.

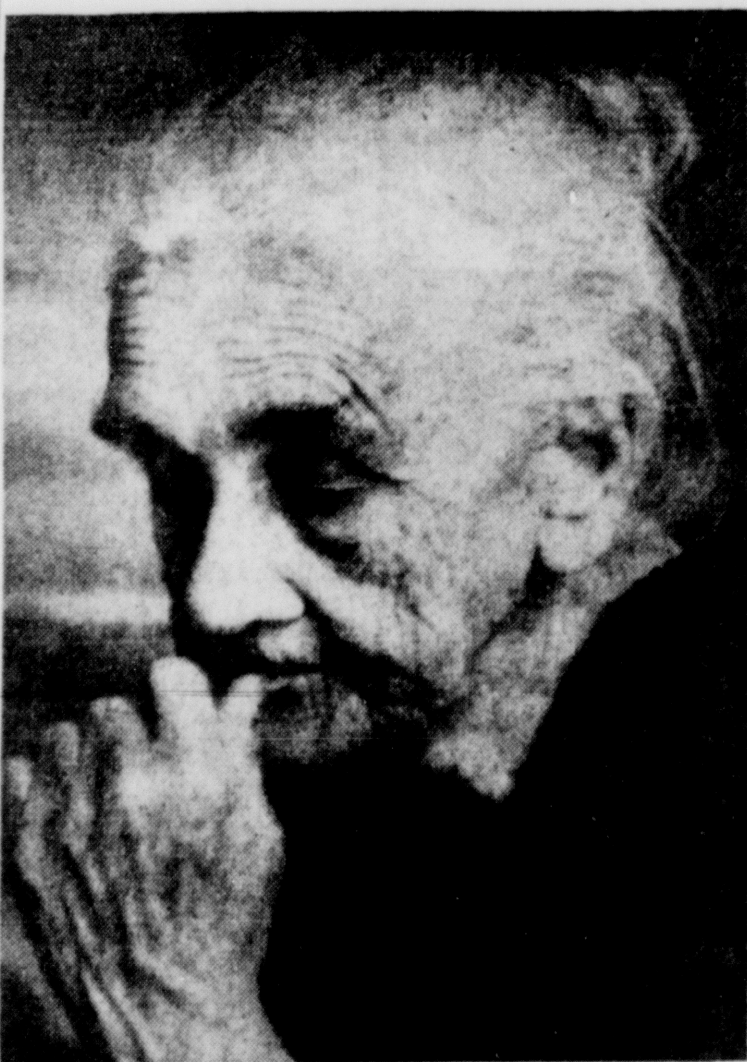

Wright said he has been retained by King Feisal to plan and design the cultural center as part of a billion-dollar, nine-year public works project. The plan covers a new university at Baghdad, and the center Wright will start designing immediately, he said.

"They are calling this the new Babylon," Wright said, "and they are also naming it the 'Isle of Eden' because the Garden of Eden was supposed to have been located on only 40 miles from this project."

Man Who Assaulted Policeman Sentenced

BALTIMORE, June 7 (AP)—A Baltimore County man who, police said, disarmed and threatened to kill a county policeman March 10, was sentenced today to five years in the Maryland State Penitentiary.

Judge Michael Paul Smith imposed the sentence upon Edgar T. Purcell, 44, of Essex, formerly accused of assault with intent to kill, assault, and possession of a deadly weapon.

Ounce Of Alcohol Ups Auto Wreck Odds Over 1,000%

NEW YORK, June 7 (AP)—About one ounce of alcohol in an automobile driver's body increases his chances of being involved in an accident by "more than 1,000 per cent," the American Medical Assn. was told today.

The report was made by Dr. Herman A. Heise of Milwaukee at the AMA's annual convention. Dr. Heise is chairman of an AMA subcommittee studying effects of intoxication.

Beer Truck Upsets, Blocking Highway

BALTIMORE, June 7 (AP)—Rush hour traffic on the busy Baltimore-Washington Expressway was tied up for more than four hours today when a tractor-trailer loaded with beer overturned, blocking three lanes of the dual-lane highway.

State Trooper Donald Croft said the truck swerved to avoid a station wagon which swung into the fast lane. Richard Kaylor, 34, of Greensboro, N.C., the truck driver, and Alfred M. Dintino, Jr., 21, of Bradbury Heights, and Nancy Poirer, 19, of Waltham, Mass., who were in the station wagon, were slightly injured.

Dintino was charged with failure to drive in his designated lane.

Hagerstown Signal Worker Electrocuted

HAGERSTOWN, June 7 (AP)—William H. Ditto, 43-year-old line man for Hagerstown's municipal signal department, was electrocuted today while helping remove old traffic light cable from a pole in the business district.

Ditto was killed when he came in contact with a 2,300-volt power line. It was first thought to be a heart attack. Dr. Samuel R. Wells, county medical examiner, said after an autopsy that it was definitely electrocution.

Ditto leaves a widow and two children.

Remember Ministry's Three R's, Bishop Tells Methodist Pastors

WESTMINSTER, Md., June 7 (AP)—Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam today cautioned 21 retiring Methodist ministers and 20 new ones to remember the three R's of the ministry—"reverence, relevance, and radiance."

Bishop Oxnam, administrator of the Washington area of the Methodist Church, spoke at a special service honoring both retiring ministers and young ministers entering full membership in the church's Baltimore Conference.

The service was a highlight of the second day of the conference's 173rd session. The four-day annual meeting at Western Maryland College will end Sunday following the reading of new pastoral assignments within the conference area—all of Maryland west of Chesapeake Bay, the District of Columbia, and the three eastern most counties of West Virginia.

Ministers, said the bishop, are essential workers who are "expendable for the large work." They must take care not to be like television sets with burned-out tubes which "will have their circuit turned on but no image from 800 to 900."

Virginian Backs River Gambling, Drinking Probe

BALTIMORE, June 7 (AP)—A Maryland legislator got a promise of an assist from a Virginian and a wait-and-see reaction from two Maryland colleagues today on his proposal to investigate the Potomac River drink-and-gamble situation.

The proposed probe is to be discussed next Wednesday at a meeting Del. Maurice Cardin (D-Balto 5th) has called of his House Inter-governmental Cooperation Committee.

Cardin noted that licensing by Charles County of drinking and gambling spots off the Virginia shore "has become an interstate matter."

Cardin's proposed inquiry was prompted by announced plans for floating a casino that would be equipped with slot machines.

For years Charles County has licensed drinking and gambling spots on piers which extend from Virginia into the Maryland-owned Potomac. Virginia law prohibits slots and liquor-by-the-drink.

A Virginia official today pledged Cardin his full cooperation if he makes an official request to hold hearings in Virginia on the matter.

Raymond V. Long, chairman of the Virginia Interstate Cooperation Commission, said his response to Cardin's tentative request for a Virginia hearing was unofficial.

Long said, however, his group "would be glad to cooperate in any effort to improve relations between Virginia and the Free State."

Meanwhile, two members of Cardin's committee declined to say whether they thought an investigation by the Committee was called for.

Del. Homer White Jr. (D-Wicomico) said he received Cardin's letter on the meeting only today and had no comment at this time. White said he was not certain whether he would attend the Wednesday meeting.

Del. Myrtle A. Polk (D-Worcester) said she would attend the meeting but would not say whether she favored an investigation pending the Wednesday session. She did say she believes all county liquor boards should be named by the governor rather than the county commissioners. Only the boards in Charles and Queen Annes counties are not named by the governor.

Adventists To Hold Ordination Service

BALTIMORE, June 7 (AP)—Two young men will be ordained to the ministry tomorrow during the third day of the annual summer meeting of Maryland-Delaware Seventh-day Adventists.

More than 2,000 persons from the conference area are expected for the session.

High ecclesiastical rites will be held at 2:30 p.m. for James A. Brown of Patuxent, Md., and Robert L. Kirk of Dover, Del., both local Adventist pastors.

Brown, a native of Tennessee, is a graduate of the Washington, D.C., Missionary College. He served in the Marine Corps and was severely wounded during the World War II Battle of Iwo Jima. Kirk served as assistant pastor of the Baltimore First Adventist Church for a year before assuming his present charge in 1955. He is a graduate of the Emmanuel Missionary College at Berrien Springs, Mich.

Worst Truck Crash Claims 20th Victim

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C., June 7 (AP)—The worst two-truck highway collision in the history of the nation claimed its 20th victim today.

Laverne Giles, 28, of Mt. Olive, N.C., died today in a hospital here of a tractor-trailer truck and a truck packed with 41 migrant farmhands.

Several of the 16 injured workers still in hospitals of this area remained in critical condition.

Atom Medicine Expert Upholds Weapons Tests

WASHINGTON, June 7 (AP)—Dr. Shields Warren, an expert on atomic medicine, said today it would be "inexcusable" for the United States to "jeopardize" the free world's safety by halting nuclear weapons tests.

His testimony before a Senate-House Atomic Subcommittee supported the position taken by Dr. Willard F. Libby, a member of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission and a nuclear scientist.

"No Substitute" For Tests Libby has written the subcommittee that this country cannot halt atomic tests if it is to develop the modern weapons "urgently needed for our defense."

"There is no substitute for testing to determine the reliability of a weapon," Libby said.

Warren followed up with this statement today: "I firmly believe as a physician that it is inexcusable for us to jeopardize our own safety and that of the rest of the free world in order to eliminate a risk of as low an order of magnitude as is constituted by any reasonable program of atomic weapons testing."

Soil Bank Wins Senate Tests

WASHINGTON, June 7 (AP)—Both phases of the administration's soil bank farm program got backing from the Senate Appropriations Committee today as it approved a $3,668,157 bill to operate the Department of Agriculture for the 12 months beginning July 1.

At the same time the purse-string group cut more than 24 million dollars from the total previously voted by the House to pull the money bill about 300 millions below the total President Eisenhower had asked.

Biggest administration victory was an 18-2 vote continuing the soil bank acreage reserve program on 1950 crops and authorizing payments of 500 million dollars for this.

This reversed a 192-187 House vote on May 15 aimed at ending these payments to farmers after this year's crops.

Secrets Of Charm by John Robert Powers

Choosing A Gift For The Bride

The nice thing to do is invariably the right thing to do. This is equally true in areas where no protocol exists, such as in the giving of wedding presents.

A present is not obligatory for each guest who accepts an invitation to wedding or reception. Dear friends and members of the family send gifts, others need not—unless they wish to do so.

When in a quandary about an appropriate remembrance, find out if a particular shop has a list of the bride's pattern in china, silver, and crystal. Selection Unlimited.

As a friend or the family, or of the bride-to-be, there is no reason why you shouldn't inquire as to her likes and needs for her new household.

If circumstances don't allow a checkup, you may be sure that any bride will welcome such individual and decorative items as a crystal decanter, a distinctive ebony tray, a handsome cigarette lighter, demitasse service, a copper chafing dish, a tall wooden pepper grinder, a cutlery set.

I will never forget a conversation in a shop where two women were browsing among limitation less fun and functional table accessories. Said one, pointing to a pottery dish of indescribable shape: "That's interesting—what is it?" Her companion's reply: "I haven't the vague idea, but why don't I send it to so-and-so? I should give her a wedding present."

A General Rule
Your remembrance may be for daily use, or for the special occasion—perhaps when the bride entertains. It should carry your personal touch, convey your sincere good wishes, be both functional and fanciful—never one or the other alone.

WHAT RELIGION

DID FOR BASEBALL!

Today's athlete wants to win fairly according to the rules. Primitive man had no rules, no sense of fair play. In the intervening centuries man learned more of God. He began to apply basic religious principles of honesty and integrity to all the activities of life. Finally, he decided that even his games ought to be played by such standards.

Sometimes we say that sports build character. We really mean that fair play—the religious principle we have tried to incorporate in our games—turns mere competitive effort into a character-molding experience.

But life is more than a game . . . and Christian character is more than sportsmanship.

The Church teaches all of us the principles of moral and spiritual living. It brings us into a reverent relationship with God himself. Its truths not only inspire fair play . . . but victorious living.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Accident Gets New Dial Phone System Today

Valley 6 Is Area Call Designation

ACCIDENT — A new two-letter, five-numeral telephone numbering system for all Accident telephones is to go into effect this morning at 8 o'clock, standard time, according to C. L. Stem, manager of the C&P Telephone Company.

The new central office name for the Accident area is Valley 6. All the new numbers in this new dial system are listed in a special telephone directory just delivered to all subscribers in the Accident and Friendsville area. With this changeover, all telephone numbers in Garrett County are now on the two-letter, five-number plan.

Mr. Stem said yesterday that technical personnel under the guidance of Charles H. Smith, plant wire chief have completed last-minute checks and tests for the changeover.

After 8 a. m. today, Mr. Stem explains, customers should remove the temporary number card on their telephone and start using the new VA-6 numbers.

This change here is a part of the Bell System program to create a uniform nationwide telephone numbering plan which will provide better and faster long-distance service. He urges all subscribers to become familiar with the new dialing program.

He hopes the community will respond again as it has in the past.

The auction sale will afford an excellent opportunity for local persons to dispose of old items of furniture, toys, clothing, hardware, etc., and provides the Yeoman Club with an excellent means of assisting the high school band.

Faculty Concludes Workshop At Frostburg State College

Many Areas Of Educational Activity Aired

FROSTBURG—A two-day faculty workshop was concluded this week at State Teachers College with Robert Novack as chairman.

The group evaluated this year's total campus work from the standpoint of how effectively they met the objectives set up by the faculty a year ago. Particularly the curriculum and also all phases of junior college operations.

Under discussion were topics such as: Scholastic Standards, Community Skills, Handwriting, Use of Library, Student Attendance, Eligibility for Belonging to Extra Curricular Activities, Teacher Grading and Triad Reports.

Greater use of community organizations by teachers and students, and the need for a fulltime instructor in visual education classes in closed circuit television and outdoor education, were also discussed.

A recruiting program for new students will be started in September with a canvass being made in high schools from Garrett to Carroll County and Montgomery, Prince George, Howard and Anne Arundel counties. The present schedule calls for Lowell Sowers to canvass Washington, Frederick and Allegany counties; Dr. Thomas V. Baucom, Garrett County in addition to his mathematics program and President Hardesty to canvass in Montgomery, Prince Georges, Howard and Anne Arundel counties.

President Hardesty announced to the group that all teachers in Western Maryland will be canvassed to determine how many would be interested in working for a masters degree in elementary education if a summer program should be instituted at Frostburg State by 1958. Persons who have completed a two-year normal course will be checked to see how many have a desire to teach and would like to complete the work for a bachelors degree in education by taking the additional courses required.

The faculty has chosen as a project for faculty meetings next year the development of a RTS program in elementary education and when it is developed will be submitted to the State Board of Trustees for approval. The board last week approved the above program for Towson State Teachers College effective the winter of 1957 and summer of 1958.

The faculty also spent a great deal of time discussing student life on campus. Special activities will be provided for resident students who remain on campus for weekends and additional student life will be provided for commuting students.

City May Ask Smoke Study At Industrial Plants

Air Force Now Seeks Veterans

The new Air Force re-enlistment program for prior-service men which began last summer is producing excellent results, according to Sergeant Harold C. Waldrop, local Air Force recruiter, with many former servicemen re-enlisting.

He added that the new system for determining a man's rank has enabled him to enlist the services of technicians. For those who desire them, 30-day advance leaves will be given to veterans who re-enlist now.

During the past week, the local recruiters at the Air Force station in the Post Office building, enlisted a total of 14 men and have a number of applications pending. The area quota has been exceeded by 200 per cent, but permission has been received to enlist additional men.

Accepted for Air Force enlistment and assigned to Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas, for basic training are Charles L. Martin, 603 William Street; Willard C. Amtower, Ridgeville, W. Va.; Gene E. Dawson, 222 Philos Avenue, Westernport; James M. Lark, RFD 1, Ridgeley; David C. Sutton, RFD 2, Keyser; Russell L. Hymes, RFD 1, Hyndman, Pa.; Archimede Ziviello Jr., 252 East Main Street, Jay Dee Mosholder, Star Route, Conrad W. Leach, 26 East 4th Avenue, and Victor H. Burkett, all Everett, Pa. Wayne C. Arnold, RFD 3, Samuel Foreman, RFD 4, George R. Ritchey, RFD 3, and Charles L. Young, 445 East Pitt Street, all Bedford, Pa.

Sgt. Waldrop said the men flew to Texas from Baltimore by commercial air line and their basic training will be concluded in from four to six weeks.

Mrs. Vogel To Head County ICEC Unit

Mrs. Helen Vogel, a Health Department nurse, is the new president-elect of the Allegany County chapter of the International Council for Exceptional Children.

Others elected at the spring dinner meeting of the group at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club are Mrs. Samantha Lucas, Pennsylvania Avenue School special teacher, secretary, and Mrs. Marian Wilson, LaVale School special teacher, treasurer.

Mrs. Margaret Faulk, speech correctionist in the county schools, is the retiring president of the chapter. She is being succeeded by John F. Manley, principal of Hill Street School in Frostburg. Mrs. Vogel will take office as president next year.

Arthur C. Howard, safety director at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, who was principal speaker at the dinner meeting last Friday night, said he was pleased to know of the work of ICEC, which is helping make well-adjusted citizens out of handicapped persons. He cited ways in which his plant had adjusted job requirements to take advantage of the capabilities of handicapped workers.

County Will Get U.S. Route 40 Plan

*One set of preliminary plans for the relocation of U. S. Route 40 in the Flintstone area between the east slope of Martin Mountain and the west slope of Polish Mountain will soon be sent to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Clarence W. Clawson, engineer of road design for the State Roads Commission, yesterday submitted a letter to the county commissioners announcing plans to send the preliminary sketches here.

The City of Cumberland is negotiating with a Washington engineering firm for a combustion and smoke control study of two industrial plants here.

Plans for the survey by a firm which makes studies of combustion and air pollution problems were announced yesterday by Mayor Roy W. Eves after some 50 Kelly Springfield Tire Company workers drove to City Hall yesterday morning to complain of damage done by fly ash.

Mayor Eves said the purpose of the study of the operation of the Potomac Edison Company's River plant and the Kelly plant boiler would be to determine if the plants are meeting requirements of the city's smoke control ordinance, and if the performance of dust collecting equipment used at the power plants falls within standards of similar industries.

Both plants burn powdered coal and both are equipped with precipitators.

Inspects Vehicles
The fly ash, the delegation claimed, comes from the River Plant and has resulted in heavy costs to Kelly employees who leave their cars parked on company lots during the third shift (11 p. m. to 7 a. m.).

The hoods and tops of the cars were thickly covered with the sooty substance and the car owners showed that it was impossible to blow off or wash off easily.

Henry W. Price, local manager of the Potomac Edison, inspected some of the cars and carried on a brief conversation with the mayor and Kelly delegation.

Price asked how the group was so positive that the residue came from PE stacks, and was informed that the discharge was easily visible, with most of the ash descending from about 30 to 45 minutes beginning at approximately 1:30 a. m. yesterday.

Charles B. Krimm of LaVale and L. W. Leasure, 456 Baltimore Avenue, who were spokesmen for the Kelly group, informed Price that complaints had been made with the power firm over a period of at least two years. Yesterday's action, the spokesmen said, was taken to bring the matter to a head since the expense of washing, waxing and protecting the finish of cars was becoming unbearable.

Price pointed out that a daily inspection of the River Plant is made, that he is in daily contact with officials there and that all operating procedures are closely checked to insure against heavy deposits such as was evidenced by the streaked automobiles.

Present Petition
Price assured the group that he would check the River Plant operations and see that all precautions are being taken.

Mayor Eves said the first time he was informed of the situation was two weeks ago when Kelly employees presented a petition asking the city take measures to force the stop of the heavy fall of fly ash. At the time, Mayor Eves said he contacted Price and informed him of the complaint and was assured that an investigation would be made.

Mayor Eves said he would consult with engineers at both the Kelly and PE plants, and that obviously something must be done. The last inspection of local plants, Mayor Eves said, was conducted by Raymond Tucker, now mayor of St. Louis.

Watching Wisconsin GOP Convention

President Eisenhower's Modern Republicanism is involved, perhaps indirectly, in the jockeying for the Wisconsin GOP nomination for the Senate seat left vacant by the death of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy. If the GOP convention this weekend endorses a senatorial candidate, its choice will give an indication of the present attitude of the party organization, though not necessarily of the Wisconsin voters.

One of the candidates is former Rep. Glenn R. Davis. Davis established a record of support for the Eisenhower program in the 83d Congress higher than the average of GOP Representatives in 1953 and 1954, but voted against the administration's foreign policy more often than not. More important, Davis was the candidate of the GOP organization in 1956 in a primary contest with Sen. Alexander Wiley. The GOP convention in that year repudiated Wiley largely for his internationalist stand in favor of the Eisenhower foreign policy. Davis had the endorsement of the convention and the support of McCarthy's adherents. But Wiley took his case to the Wisconsin voters, defeated Davis and went on to best the Democratic candidate, Henry W. Maier.

Others seeking the McCarthy seat include Gov. Walter J. Kohler, who had been considering running against McCarthy in 1958. Kohler is generally labeled an Eisenhower man, though perhaps only a moderately modern Republican. Lieut. Gov. Warren P. Knowles has thrown his hat into the ring. Another GOP candidate is Rep. Alvin O'Konski, veteran of 15 years in the House. O'Konski, a free-wheeling Republican, "crusaded" against Communism with McCarthy. He frequently has opposed the administration on domestic issues.

The Business Of Baseball

Baseball started as a sport and the most authoritative information is that it is an American development of the English games of Cricket and Rounders. Although it is incorrectly claimed that Abner Doubleday created the game, there is ample evidence that it was played before Doubleday was born.

The diamond, which really establishes the nature of the game, was first used in Hoboken, New Jersey, on June 19, 1846, and was devised by Alexander Cartwright of New York. So far as can be learned, one of the first baseball clubs was the Knickerbocker Baseball Club which drafted the first set of rules between 1845-46; these were first used in a game between the Knickerbockers and the New York Nine. Henry Chadwick, who was editor of A. G. Spaulding's "Baseball Guide," was really the first man who became an authority on the game and whose judgments and opinions gave it the form which we now have.

Baseball must have been played in New England during Revolutionary days, as Rounders, by countless boys, but it was not until the New York form of the game became stabilized that it moved away from both Cricket and Rounders and became a game of its own—for a time, the national game of the United States, played by every growing boy in the country. Probably, the greatest innovation in the New York game was the change from an oblong square to a diamond square which added an element of swiftness to the runner and made the pitcher the most important player.

The first game played with an entrance fee was on July 20, 1858, when New Yorkers played Brooklynites at the Fashion Race Track on Long Island. The admission was 50 cents per person. The clubs had to pay rent for the grounds. The gate was $750 and a profit was earned. This stimulated baseball tours for money and may be regarded as the beginning of professional baseball, although most of the players were still amateurs, earning their livings in some other way. However, it was in 1869, that the Cincinnati Red Stockings, an amateur ball club, decided to go professional and to pay players regular salaries. The idea offended the country as ruining a sport, but the club went ahead and baseball became a business. Professional teams appeared in many cities and travelled the country.

It was out of these professional teams, members of the National Association of Baseball Players, that the major and minor leagues came to be organized, but there had to be an intermediary step which changed the nature of the game from a sport to a business, namely that individuals who guaranteed the costs and the players' salaries took over the clubs as private owners. The next association was not of players but of clubs. It was organized in 1876 and was known as the National League of Professional Baseball Clubs.

This shift in emphasis made the game a private enterprise like selling shoes or suits or anything. It is this association which is the National League, one of the two major baseball groups. In 1883, the umpires, who had served as gentlemen amateurs, were put on fixed salaries and became employees of the National League. In January, 1900, Ban Johnson organized the American League as the second major league.

The strictly business nature of the game was made clear in the early competition between the American and the National Leagues, the American League in some instances doubled players' wages and gave them longer term contracts. The National League went into court in 1901 to prevent players from jumping their contracts and courts in different states ruled differently.

The physical property of the clubs has naturally become obsolescent and requires rebuilding. Also the seating capacity is in some places inadequate to bring proper returns; for instance, the Yankees in New York have a stadium of 67,000 seats, but the Giants have only 55,000 and the Dodgers 31,000. It is the Giants and Dodgers who have been pressing for municipal subsidies. Attendance probably reached its height in the 1920's, despite the increase of population since then. For some reason, the game has not retained its popularity in recent decades, although there may be a return of interest due to the efforts of baseball fans to stimulate stand lot playing. Perhaps the game needs a character like Christy Mathewson or Babe Ruth to give it the thrill of a magnificent personality.

Counterpart Funds Could Finance Foreign Aid

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Four billion dollars is not easy to find these days, but this correspondent believes he has located inside the government itself approximately that sum and perhaps more to pay for the mutual security and foreign aid program proposed recently by President Eisenhower. It could cut the budget by four billions and perhaps more. And nowadays anybody who can come up with a budget cut is supposed to be in tune with the times.

The four billions emerge in the form of foreign currencies that today are being used by nations abroad to buy American farm surpluses.

These surpluses consist of wheat and other grains, dairy products, fruits and almost everything else that the farmer has been able hitherto to dump on the Government of the United States for purchase.

What happens is that, with the authority of the Congress, the farm products are sold overseas and payments by foreign governments are made in foreign currencies. Thus, anything sold to some countries would be in the local equivalent of pounds or francs or lire.

These sums have been given the name "counterpart funds." They usually are spent in the same countries which buy the surpluses. But the United States has troops in some and military installations in other countries, and makes all sorts of purchases locally.

Up to now only 21 per cent of the "counterpart funds" are brought into the federal budget and show up in the form of appropriations or as receipts when sales are made. The other 79 per cent doesn't get into the budget at all, and only small amounts have been spent thus far.

The boat business is booming. There are more yachts than there are moorings, and men who want to hire a fishing smack ought to make reservations in ample time. The outboard motor craze has exceeded all expectations, and every lake and river will be putt-putting this summer.

Anything can happen on the water. As a rule, the skipper is prepared for most misadventures except illness and accidents. Every boat should carry a medical kit and the owner ought to have a little know-how on what to do when the doctor cannot come. The kit should be waterproof and consist of ordinary household remedies, including

The House of Representatives was told during debate this week that, as a result of farm sales overseas, more than one billion dollars now is available in foreign currencies for spending by the United States Government. If the pending legislation is passed, approximately four billion dollars worth of surpluses in the United States will be ready for disposal abroad.

Since the legislation was first passed, agreements have been made with 30 countries, covering 87 different disposal programs. Commodities involved in these agreements have cost the Commodity Credit Corporation nearly three billion dollars, and only one billion dollars worth has thus far been exported.

Now, there's no reason why the government shouldn't buy more and more of the agricultural surpluses as they arise and sell them overseas except that the project has to be carefully handled so as to avoid ill feeling that in other producing countries which may be deprived of their markets. But the best answer to this is that the world, with its increasing population, is in need of more and not less food. Backward areas are, of course, undernourished and need help.

In a report filed on May 9 by Chairman Cooley of the House Agriculture Committee, it is noted that virtually all the foreign-currency funds used thus far have been employed for purchases of strategic materials, military procurement and economic development, and for the payment of certain obligations of the United States Government abroad.

There is no reason why the same method and formula of payment cannot be applied to other projects and expenses of the United States in foreign

Currently English channel tunnel shares have been selling at $1.30 per copy. Buying such stock is just another way of burying one's bankroll underground—but with a chance of a profit.

Dulles Felt Army Trial Of Girard Would Harm Far Eastern Relations

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON.—It was an impassioned plea by Secretary of State Dulles that finally reversed President Eisenhower himself regarding a Japanese trial for Sgt. William Girard. The President had stood firmly behind the Army and Secretary of Defense Wilson that Girard should face an American court-martial, until Dulles threw the whole future of American-Asiatic policy into the argument.

He warned that resentment against American GI's in Asia was so great that we might have to withdraw our troops from almost every Asiatic country. Japan, he said, had even threatened to scrap our mutual defense treaty if Sgt. Girard was tried by the United States, not Japan.

Dulles also warned that trouble was brewing in South Korea where South Koreans charge an American GI, Sgt. John Wilson, with an alleged robbery. This, on top of the killing of a Chinese "Peeping Tom" by Sgt. Robert Reynolds in Formosa, had played into Communist hands and aroused Asiatic populations to a dangerous pitch.

Dulles also gave the Cabinet a new version of the accidental killing of the Japanese housewife on the American firing range. He said that Sgt. Girard is believed to have deliberately coaxed the Japanese woman onto the firing range by offering to let her have some scrap metal.

When she got close, he fired an empty cartridge case from a grenade launcher to scare her. The shell case accidentally hit and killed her.

Secretary of Defense Wilson disputed Dulles's version of the story, claimed Girard fired in line of duty and was clearly under the Army's jurisdiction. At first Eisenhower stood with Wilson. But when the Secretary of State argued that our entire Asiatic relations, including those with the Philippines, were at stake, he agreed to a reversal.

Note—One important potential trouble spot to watch is Greece, where all Americans working for Uncle Sam still have the extra-territorial right of trial in their own courts no matter what they do. The State Department has long wanted to change this, but the Army is opposed. Greeks resent it bitterly.

Humphrey's New Job

The historic Supreme Court decision divorcing General Motors and duPont is going to create some problems for retiring Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey. He is to become head of National Steel, which is 28 per cent owned by his former company, the M. A. Hanna Company.

Since duPont is now not permitted to own 20 per cent of General Motors, it's going to be difficult for the Hanna Company to hang on to its 28 per cent of National Steel.

Humphrey had built up the Hanna Company to be one of the most powerful industrial holding companies in America, including coal, iron, steel, nickel, rayon, and even biscuits. His son has now succeeded him as head of the Hanna Company, and Humphrey himself is becoming head of affiliated National Steel.

It will be interesting to see whether Humphrey's Cabinet colleague, Attorney General Brownell, now starts an antitrust suit against Humphrey in his new job.

Note — One hot potato which Humphrey will escape as he leaves the Cabinet is whether to charge the duPonts a capital gains tax when they sell their General Motors stock. Since the government is forcing the sale of the stock, it's debatable whether the sellers should be charged a capital gains tax. This would mean an extra half billion to Uncle Sam, if the Treasury decides to collect. But this one will have to be decided by Humphrey's successor, Bob Anderson.

Supreme Court Notes

Old Guard Republicans shudder to think that a Supreme Court Justice appointed by Ike, Bill Brennan of New Jersey, wrote two of the most historic and liberal opinions of the year. It might have been expected of Hugo Black or Bill Douglas, they say, but not of an Eisenhower appointee. Brennan wrote both the opinions divorcing duPont-General Motors, plus the opinion requiring production of FBI files if the government wants to base its prosecution on those files.

There's a lot of speculation as to whether the next anti-trust case, similar to the GM-duPont divorce, may be reversed by the same Supreme Court. Reason is that three judges abstained — Harlan, because he once represented duPont, Clark, because he handled the duPont case when he was Attorney General; and Whitaker because he didn't join the court in time. In future cases, Harlan is generally expected to vote with big business. He was a Wall Street attorney. Whitaker was a midwest business attorney and might vote the same way. Tom Clark, though once head of the Antitrust Division, could vote either way. A lot of lawyers are wondering when Felix Frankfurter will carry out the advice he gave other justices to retire at the age of 70. He is now 74. From a liberal viewpoint, Eisenhower's Supreme Court appointments are better than Truman's. Chief Justice Warren is one of the greatest additions to the court in recent years. Brennan and Harlan have turned out to be liberal on human rights issues. Whitaker is still untested.

Joie de Vivre

By Brother Barnabas

What is your chief happiness in life — the thing that affords you most satisfaction—the thing you'd rather be or do than anything else?

An intelligent answer to such an omnibus question would depend on the age, the circumstances and the time of life of the individual. A child's answer would not be the same as an adult's.

One would say, "Give me a book, a shady nook, and a June day and I will make the pomp of kings ridiculous."

John L. Sullivan, the heavy-weight prizefighter (1858-1918) said "there is nothing so happily as having three jags of liquor under one's belt."

Youth finds its "joie de vivre" in bounding health, sex interest, dreaming, wondering, planning castles in the air.

Age is filled with disillusionment, retrospect, diminishing powers, physical infirmities, signs of the approaching finale.

Youth and age pass in review at a Commencement exercise in June — boys and girls drinking the sweet elixir of life, parents aware of the bitterness in the cup.

The drama of youth and age is a continuous performance that has been going on from generation to generation since the dawn of human history.

There is in the biblical record the personification of beauty and the devastation wrought by age.

If we want to know how beautiful a woman can be we have only to read from the manuscript of the Dead Sea Scrolls written 2,000 years ago. Genesis 12:14 describes Abraham's wife, Sarah, as "very fair."

Another source says of her: "How beautiful the look of her face. And how fair is the hair of her head, how fair indeed are her eyes and how pleasing her nose and all the radiance of her face. How beautiful her breast and how lovely all her whiteness. Her arms goodly to look upon, and her hands how perfect—all the appearance of her hands."

How fair her palms and how long and fine all the fingers of her hands. Her legs how beautiful and without blemish her thighs. And all maidens and all brides that go beneath the canopy are not more fair than she. And above all women she is lovely and higher is her beauty than that of them all, and with all her beauty there is much wisdom in her. And the tip of her hands is comely."

Now there will be that same beauty among women and a correlative strength among men, in every generation, but it will be subject to the toll of the years, as described in Ecclesiastes 12:1-7.

Here we have an allegory of senility. One by one we lose our faculties of seeing, hearing, understanding. "Grey hairs appear here and there and we know it not."

The metaphors change and intermingle in accord with the richness of an Oriental imagination.

Life as it advances loses its brightness, and that increasingly — sun, moon and stars, all fail, and after rain there is no clear season of shining, but only the return of the clouds.

"The sound of the grinding is low." To the deaf man the conversation of other persons becomes low and subdued. His own voice becomes thin and high pitched, resembling the voice of a bird.

He is a light sleeper. He awakens at dawn when the birds begin to chirp.

"The almond tree blossoms," emblematical of the gray hairs that accompany age.

A grasshopper adds weight to his burden. His eyesight grows dim. His arms (keepers) and legs (strong men) grow weak and weary.

He is afraid of things that are high and hard to climb, like stairs. His teeth (grinders) are loose, and mastication is difficult.

Every day and in many ways he is reminded that man is mortal and it is wise for every son of Adam to begin early in life to walk in God's way.

Mr. Gladstone recalled memories of his life as Prime Minister. No press of work kept him from attending at 8:30 the early Matins in Hawarden Church. This meant a quarter of an hour's walk each way, part of it sharply uphill, through the Park, and often his grandmother accompanied him.

Then one day, when he was 85, he said to his mother: "I must ask you to prevent Petz (his Pomeranian pet) from coming to church with me. You see, I have to throw sticks for him, and stooping every other minute, then throwing them is too hard work on the hill, and by my doctor's orders a life-long habit must be changed."

Many people came to church just to hear him read the lesson. In those last years he would leave his pew and sit on an old stool just below the pulpit, and when the text was announced he would stand and cup his ear to make sure he heard every word of it.

That was growing old gracefully, thinks

Insurance Extension Is Legal

Members of the Allegany County Board of Alcohol License Commissioners, the two board inspectors and clerk to the board can be included in the accident and health insurance policy coverage of the county.

Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, said he had been asked by Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson to determine if three members and three employees of the liquor board could be covered.

Getty said the insurance company which has the group policy covering the county employees is willing to take in the liquor board personnel. The liquor board has a separate budget which is paid from license fees collected each year.

James Bishop, county treasurer, handles the liquor board budget payments and he told the commissioners there is enough money in the contingent fund to pay for the board's share of the insurance cost. The employees and board members will make contributions for their share. They have been covered under Social Security and the pension system, he added.

Getty also explained to the commissioners that residents in the Vocke Road section wanted to know the procedure to be followed in having a street in that section named. The street is listed on deeds but is unnamed.

C. M. Diehl, a representative of the property owners involved, appeared before the board to inquire concerning the matter. Getty explained that the property owners would have to give rights of ways, and when they petitioned the county to take the street into the county system the name they selected should be listed.

Richmond, Va., in 1742, was said to have been the site of the first fair in America.

Road Affairs Are Discussed

A number of matters concerning county roads were discussed yesterday at the Allegany County Board of Commissioners met for the first time in the former auxiliary court room on the second floor of the Court House.

J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor, submitted to the board the $1,500 bond of the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company in connection with laying of a new gas pipeline along several county roads in LaVale.

Chapman explained that the bond insures that the roadway will be replaced in their former condition after the gas pipeline is installed.

Chapman also reported on a number of road complaints. He said that a complaint concerning broken sewer line on Humbert Street in Ellerslie reported last week should be turned over to the County Health Department.

He also reported that vandals have damaged the 25-mile-an-hour signs placed on DeHaven Road recently. Firearms were used in damaging the signs. Chapman said he inspected the Lower Town Creek Road on the complaint of George Schoenadel. "I've seen it in worse shape," Chapman told the board.

Chapman was authorized to install pipe in a ditch running from the intersection of Calla Hill and Jealous Row in Mt. Savage. Water from the ditch has been running into the basement of a home nearby. This was determined during an inspection a few days ago, Chapman said, by noticing that wash water from a residence above seeped into the basement. The bluing in the wash water showed up in the basement, he explained.

Mrs. A. M. McElfish appeared before the board to ask that loose boards on a small bridge near her home on Pea Vine Run be repaired. She said the rattling of the loose boards disturbed her husband, who has been sick a few more than a year. The matter was referred to Chapman.

Richmond, Va., in 1742, was said to have been the site of the first fair in America.

Some of the rails spurted ahead by noon on word that the Interstate Commerce Commission had permitted the carriers a 33 per of freight cars. These charges are made against shippers who keep the cars longer than the two days of free time allotted for unloading. But the rails, already lower because of the industry's drop in net income for April, failed to keep their gains and declined on average.

Steels, nonferrous metals, chemicals and some rubbers and selected stocks made fair gains.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 30 cents to $184.00 with the industrials up $1.00, the rails down 20 cents and the utilities down 20 cents.

City Bus Clips Utility Pole, Injures Rider

Damage To Vehicle Set At $1,800

At least one person was injured and heavy property damage was caused yesterday afternoon when a Cumberland Transit Lines bus jumped a curb and sheared a utility pole in the 600 block of Shriver Avenue.

Mrs. Pearl Hinkle, 62, of 342 Baltimore Avenue, was taken to Memorial Hospital for treatment and X-rays. She sustained a bruised shoulder and head injury in the crash.

The driver of the bus, according to Guy M. Davis, head of the transit company, was George Chambers, 303 Independence Street. Mr. Chambers told authorities his brakes locked. Mr. Davis said no skid marks were found.

The bus was headed in the direction of Piedmont Avenue with 22 passengers aboard when the crash occurred on Shriver Avenue between Pear and Franklin streets.

Potomac Edison company officials and Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone company officials would not allow the broken pole or bus to be moved immediately for fear power lines would break.

City police said the bus knocked the center section about 10 feet from the pole, which carried both power and telephone lines.

The front door of the bus, on the side of the impact, stuck. Passengers were let out through the emergency door. Mr. Davis said about $1,800 damage was done to the bus. Both sections of the windshield were shattered.

Charles E. Kolb Heads Civitans

Charles Eugene Kolb, LaVale, has been elected president of the Cumberland Civitan Club for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Elected Thursday at the regular meeting in Central YMCA, other officers for the new year include S. Albert Wenner, Broadway Road, president-elect; Roy M. Walburn, DeHaven Road, vice president; Charles E. Moody, Greenpoint, secretary; K. Basil Kolb, 858 Sperry Terrace, treasurer; Rev. W. Randolph Keefe, 322 Beall Street, chaplain; and Alvin R. Serf Jr., 608 Greene Street, sergeant-at-arms.

The membership also approved contributions for retarded children with gifts of $200 to Friends Aware at Westernport, and $400 to Friends Aware at Cumberland.

Three local and area children were injured yesterday afternoon, one of them being hospitalized, in a series of automobile accidents in Cumberland and Ridgeley.

Apparently the more seriously injured was four-year-old Michael Blake, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Blake, 1300 Bedford Street, who was hit by a car near his home about 5 p. m. yesterday.

Sacred Heart Hospital reported the lad was admitted for X-rays of his arm. He also suffered head lacerations, and was reported in "fair" condition last night.

City Police said the child was struck by a car driven by Edgar C. Morganweck Jr., 24, of the same address, who had turned into a driveway. Witnesses said the boy ran into the side of the car and the accident was unavoidable. Investigating officer was Detective Joseph H. Stichter.

Carol Shaffer, 11, of 35 Offutt Street, was taken to Memorial Hospital for treatment after she was struck by a car while riding her bicycle near her home.

She was treated for abrasions of her right shoulder. Elroy Thrasher, 24, of 30 Pennsylvania Avenue, was the driver of the car, and no charges have been filed pending an investigation by Police Officer E. Gordon Hite. A Ridgeley youngster, Casey Dawson, 9, of 52 Potomac Street, was taken to Memorial Hospital for treatment and X-rays of injuries sustained in an accident.

The child sustained a contusion and possible leg fracture when she ran into a car operated by John E. Bramberry, city. Police Officer Jack Cornett said no charges were preferred.

He said Bramberry was almost stopped and was waiting for another car to turn left into Mineral Street.

Police Recover Music Instruments

The recovery of three musical instruments taken from Fort Hill High School and pending action against three minors who admitted taking them, have been announced by city police.

Lt. James E. Van said the first was a clarinet reported to Carol Jean Leasure and reported stolen from a locker in the school May 30.

Lt. Van said the instrument was sold to a downtown second hand dealer and repossessed by another man who took it to a music store to check its value.

It was recovered and returned to the owner after the proprietor called police to check on ownership.

He said the same school recently reported the theft of two instruments from the instrument room. A lead from the first case, Lt. Van said, led to the recovery of the instruments, hidden in the woods off Pine Avenue.

Dispute Over Cows Transferred Here For Trial

A replevin suit filed originally in Washington County Circuit Court for recovery of three Holstein cows was removed yesterday to Allegany County Circuit Court for trial.

Leon Rhodes, through Attorney Roland C. Ready, had filed the $500 action March 4 against Samuel B. Burger, RFD 1, Williamsport, seeking recovery of the three cows. The cows were described as one speckled, one large and spotted, and one with long horns. Martin V. B. Bosteter, the defense attorney, asked for removal and Associate Judge D. K. McLaughlin signed the necessary removal order.

Also docketed yesterday was the $467 settlement of a suit resulting from a March 1 traffic accident at the intersection of George and Union streets here. John H. Chenoweth, a 16-year-old boy, through August E. Chenoweth and Bessie M. Chenoweth, his natural guardians and next friends, RFD 1, brought the suit against Elmer Lewis Hughes, 406 Waverly Terrace, for the boy's injuries.

The settlement was signed by William H. Geppert, attorney for the plaintiffs, and Paul M. Fletcher, attorney for the defendant.

School Music Class Planned

Parents of children who would like to take beginning instrumental music classes when school reopens in September should enroll for the instruction before the current school term ends Tuesday, according to W. Valgene Routh, supervisor of music education in the Allegany County public schools.

Children who will be in the fifth or sixth grade in September may enroll either at their own school or at the County Board of Education office.

Mr. Routh reported that the rental of clarinets, flutes, saxophones, trumpets, trombones and violins will be limited to one-half of the school term. At the end of the half term, parents will need to consider the purchase of an instrument.

Tubas, alto horns, cellos, violas, string basses and baritone are generally too costly for individual ownership. As a result they will not be limited on a time basis but may be rented in the elementary schools as long as satisfactory progress in playing the instrument is being made.

At mid-year the instruments owned by the public school system will be serviced and another group of boys and girls will be given the opportunity to explore interest in playing an instrument.

Resident Halls At College Will Be Dedicated

Ceremony Set For October 5

R. Bowen Hardesty, president of Frostburg State Teachers College, has announced that October 5 has been set as the date for the formal dedication of the two new resident halls used for the first time during the past year.

The dedicatory services will be held in conjunction with the annual Homecoming at the college and those for whom the buildings were named will be present to be honored.

The Women's Hall has been named I. Jewell Simpson Hall after a retired assistant state superintendent of schools, while the Men's Hall has been named after Wendell D. Allen, president of the board of trustees.

Other buildings on the campus named after other personages are Lowndes Hall, the combination administration and library building, named after Tasker G. Lowndes and Lloyd Lowndes, former superintendent of State Board of Education and a governor of the state; Compton Hall, housing the auditorium and gymnasium, is named for Dr. Lillian C. Compton, retired president of the college. The "old" Women's Residence Hall was named Catherine Frost Hall after one of the original founders of Frostburg.

The proposed student union and dining hall building will be named Gunter Hall after William A. Gunter, member of the State Board of Education and a native of Frostburg.

Prosecutors Ask New Laws

OCEAN CITY, Md., June 7 (AP)—Maryland state attorneys voted unanimously today in appointing a standing committee to actively support needed legislation in the field of criminal practice.

The members of the State's Attorneys Assn. of Maryland, meeting here in annual convention, adopted the proposal advanced by Daniel T. Prettyman of Worcester County.

Prettyman said the association has been lax in giving full support in the General Assembly to legislation it favors. He said there was a need for plugging loopholes in the burglary statutes and for strengthening laws dealing with accessories to crimes.

The state's attorneys adopted a "hands-off" attitude toward the issue of Sunday sales banned by so-called blue laws.

"As long as the Sunday sales laws are on the books, it is our duty to enforce them without equivocation," said Paul M. Fletcher of Cumberland. The others went along with that and expressed the feeling they should not get into the moral aspects of the issue.

J. Harold Grady of Baltimore City said the sales have become a problem not only in Baltimore City and County but "a matter of sharp controversy throughout the whole United States."

ROBERT G. HARVEY

Youth Injured In Park Crash Succumbs Here

A requiem mass for Robert George Harvey, 17, of 8 Marion Street, who died early yesterday morning in Memorial Hospital of injuries sustained in an auto accident Monday in Constitution Park, will be celebrated Monday at 9 a. m. at St. Patrick's Church.

Interment will be in Hillcrest Burial Park. Pallbearers will be Jerry and James Hammond, Thomas Wilson, George Miller, Michael Zembower and Ronald Michael.

Honorary pallbearers at the funeral will be Earl Hockman, Charles Jankey, Daniel Burley, Gerald Meek, James Lewis, Russell Jones, William Liller and James Knippenberg, all Fort Hill classmates.

The body is at the Hafer Funeral Home where the rosary will be recited at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow. The victim was a son of George and Helen (Hammond) Harvey of Baltimore, and had been residing with an uncle, Leo Hammond for the past year and a half.

Car Hits 2 Trees

An 11th grade student at Fort Hill High School, Harvey was an occupant of a car which apparently went out of control while descending a hill in the vicinity of the park's deer pen.

The youth suffered fractured ribs, shoulder injuries, shock and concussion in the accident in which two other youths, Jerry Hammond, 18, also of 8 Marion Street, and Robert F. Newcomer, 19, of Fort Ashby, were also injured.

Harvey and Hammond were cousins. City Police Officer Ernest M. Powell said the car in which the youths were riding careened to the right of the road, rammed into a tree, whirled around and crashed into another tree. The vehicle was demolished and the trees destroyed, Officer Powell said.

Edwin R. Lilla, county investigator, said it was established yesterday that young Harvey was the driver of the car.

He said this was determined during questioning of the other occupants and that no state charges will be preferred.

2 Charges Planned

But Officer E. M. Powell, added, will prefer two charges resulting from the investigation of what happened prior to the crash.

Officer Powell said hearings are scheduled June 12 at 10 a. m. for Robert Francis Newcomer for operating on a 60-day card without an instructor present, and against his father, John Newcomer, for permitting an unlicensed operator to drive his car.

Harvey, a former resident of Baltimore, was born in Cumberland. He had been employed at the Embassy Theater and had also refereed basketball games for the City Recreation Department. He was a member of St. Patrick's Catholic Church.

The victim was an altar boy at St. Bernardine's Catholic Church in Baltimore and before coming to Cumberland attended Mount Saint Joseph's Catholic School.

Surviving, besides his parents, and the uncle with whom he resided, are a sister, Miss Barbara Harvey, Baltimore; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Hammond, and paternal grandfather, Harry Harvey, all of Cumberland.

Robertson Is First To File For New Board

Deadline Arrives For LaVale Group

James E. Robertson of Dressman's Addition became the first official candidate for the proposed LaVale Zoning Board yesterday when he filed a petition with the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors at the Court House, signed by 32 persons.

Irvin J. Neat, Republican registrar for the board, said 30 of the 32 signers were properly registered voters of Election District 29, so that Mr. Robertson had 10 more than the required signers.

Mr. Robertson, who is manager of the district office of Social Security, said yesterday afternoon that he had no particular campaign announcement to make.

"I think the idea of zoning is an excellent one," Mr. Robertson stated. "I am strongly in favor of the zoning bill, which I consider evidence of the progressiveness of LaVale. Those who worked for passage of the zoning bill in the General Assembly deserve thanks for their public spirit."

Five other candidates are expected to qualify before midnight tonight, which is the deadline for filing. The Board of Election Supervisors office in the Court House basement will remain open until midnight to accept petitions from any candidates who wait until the last minute to file.

Others expected to compete for the three seats on the Zoning Board are Leslie J. Clark, C. Arthur Lancaster, John J. Rowan, C. A. Smith and W. William Yoder.

Yesterday Shirley D. Russell, secretary of the Haystack Mountain Rod and Gun Club, submitted a letter to the county commissioners asking the commissioners to have the zoning bill printed in its entirety in local newspapers so they could ascertain what it provides.

The matter was referred to Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the commissioners.

Zoning and the June 18 referendum on the issue will be discussed by the board of directors of the LaVale Civic Improvement Association at its bi-monthly meeting at 7:30 p. m. Monday at the LaVale Fire Hall. Gilbert P. Bohn, association president, said residents of District 29 are invited.

Voters of Election District 29, except that part which lies in the Crespapton Special Taxing Area, will vote at the Fire Hall between 7 a. m. and 7 p. m. June 18 on whether they want zoning in their election district. Secondly, they will elect three members of the zoning board to serve if zoning gains support of the voters.

Weber. The will was dated January 3, 1948. Executors of the estate, qualified under $3,000 bond, are William W. Weber and the Liberty Trust Company.

County Registered Voters Decline To 40,215 June 1

Although the downward trend continued last month in voter registration, Allegany County still had 40,215 registered voters as of June 1, according to the records of the County Board of Election Supervisors.

There were 20 new registrants during the month of May. They included 14 Republicans, 11 men and three women, and six Democrats, three men and three women.

Offsetting the increase of 20 was the removal of the names of 74 other registrants. Some 72, 44 Republicans and 28 Democrats, were removed because of death. Two others, both Republicans, were deleted at their own request so they could register elsewhere.

There were five changes of political affiliation during May. The Republicans made a net gain of three. One Republican woman changed to Democrat affiliation. But three Democrat women and one Democrat man became Republicans.

The 40,215 registered voters as of June 1 included 39,793 white persons and 422 Negroes. There were 22,670 Republicans, 11,448 men and 11,222 women; 17,225 Democrats (8,825 men and 8,400 women); 304 independents (218 men and 86 women); 14 Socialists (nine men and five women) and two members of other parties, one man and one woman.
